11. Answers will vary, but students should note the following: Although both of Guy's parents were Protestant, his grandparents were Catholic. When he was growing up, most of Guy's friends were Catholic, and he decided to become a Catholic as a teenager. Because of this, as an adult he was very angry about the way Catholics were being treated, which led to his involvement in the plot to kill the king.
12. Students should note the following: First, the plotters bought thirty-six barrels of gunpowder. Next, one of the men got a job as a royal bodyguard so that the plotters would be able to get into the Parliament buildings. Then, the group used a rowboat to take the gunpowder to the buildings and hid it in the basement. After the plan was carried out, the plotters intended to start a rebellion, kidnap Princess Elizabeth and make her queen, and control her because she was only nine years old.
