

LEVELED BOOK • H

Sister Daisy, Sister Rose

Written by Torran Anderson
Illustrated by Norm Grock

www.readinga-z.com

Sister Daisy, Sister Rose

Written by Torran Anderson
Illustrated by Norm Grock

www.readinga-z.com

Daisy and Rose were twins.
They wore the same purple outfits
and the same hair bands.

They played the same instrument,
the violin.

People even called them one name, “DaisyRose,” because they couldn’t tell the girls apart.

“I’m sick of being called ‘DaisyRose,’”
Daisy said one day.

“It’s just a name,” Rose said.

“I want to be my own person,”
Daisy said.

“People always think I’m you.”

“What’s wrong with that?”
Rose asked.

The next morning, Daisy didn't wear purple.

Her hair was different, too.

"You look silly," Rose said.

"No, I don't," Daisy said.

Daisy's looks, though, were just
the beginning.

“From now on, I’m playing the fiddle,” Daisy said.

“Violin is better,” Rose said.

“Fiddle is the best!” Daisy yelled.

“I’d never play fiddle, and neither should you!” Rose yelled back.

After school that day, the twins
sat on the porch swing.
They both felt different.
They both felt strange.
No one had gotten them confused.
No one had called them DaisyRose.

"I guess it wasn't so bad," Rose said.
"Even if we're different, we'll always be sisters," Daisy said.
Rose squeezed Daisy's hand.

“Let’s play some music,” Rose said.

“Sounds great, but remember, I play the fiddle!” Daisy said.

“You do know that fiddle and violin are the same instrument,” their mom said.

“It’s just the style of music that’s different.”

The twins looked at each other and smiled.

“We know,” they said.

Glossary

apart (adv.) in a way that separates one from another (p. 5)

confused (adj.) mixed up (p. 11)

different (adj.) not the same (p. 8)

instrument (n.) a device for playing music (p. 4)

style (n.) a special way of doing music, art,
or writing (p. 14)

twins (n.) two babies born
in one birth (p. 3)

Sister Daisy, Sister Rose
Level H Leveled Book
© Learning A-Z
Written by Torran Anderson
Illustrated by Norm Grock

All rights reserved.

www.readinga-z.com

Correlation

LEVEL H
Fountas & Pinnell	H
Reading Recovery	13-14
DRA	14

Sister Daisy, Sister Rose

A Reading A-Z Level H Leveled Book

Word Count: 236

Reading A-Z

Visit www.readinga-z.com

for thousands of books and materials.