11. Answers will vary but should indicate some of the lunacy in the trial, such as the jurors being incompetent, the accusal for a trivial matter, the Queen's desire to behead everyone, the witnesses and evidence that have nothing to do with anything. Answers should also link this zaniness to the way Wonderland subverts everything, taking the normal and making it abnormal, and the constant word-play and punning in Wonderland.
12. Answers should describe details such as the following: the evidence and witnesses presented at the trial, such as the silly poem and witnesses who are either terrified or refuse to cooperate, the King and Queen wanting to sentence others who do not even stand accused of the crime, and so on. Answers will then conclude with an opinion on whether this evidence actually shows the Knave to be guilty. Answers should indicate that the nonsensical arguments do not convict the Knave.
